

Horse Still Leads In Locomotion On Big Circus Ground

There is still one place that the power of locomotion has not been assigned to the automobile and that is the circus lot. In the transporting of paraphernalia from the coast to the advance area, old-fashioned "stallions" still continue to reign supreme.

And when the musical Hagenbeck-Wallace circus arrives here Labor day, Monday, Sept. 6, it will have more than 500 head of horses, all beauties. But even though this is an old field that the "big one" has not captured, the horses have found a new reason for being. They have a contender for honors. The contender is the tractor and many are being used in the circus in transporting of its animal cages. This the tractor is doing most successfully, but there are a few jobs left that even this contender fails to do. The old mare continues to find a welcome home in the tented world.

The Hagenbeck-Wallace circus promises to bring many new features here this season. Prominent European acts have been contracted. Novelties are to be offered in the trained animal acts and according to reports, one of the most complete menageries of the world is being carried.

A street parade, more than one mile long, will be the official introduction of the show on Monday, Sept. 6. Surprises will follow one another as this procession reveals itself to the eager throngs along the curb.

TO INSTALL OFFICERS OF MADISON COUNTY

JACKSON, Tenn., Aug. 29 (AP).—On Wednesday the county officers for the ensuing term of two years, in accordance with the state law requiring these officers to be installed on the first of September. The oath of office will be administered by County Judge J. T. Rutledge, except in the case of sheriff, whose bond must be proven by Judge N. R. Barnham, criminal court judge.

R. A. Mainard, sheriff; J. W. Boon, treasurer; W. L. Bumpus, tax assessor; J. M. Ratnes and J. Phillips, assessors; R. C. Mayo, R. F. Tyson, J. B. Young, J. D. Hopper and A. S. Steadman, members of the county board of health, are the officers to be installed.

Mr. Mainard will begin his first term as the successor to Sheriff J. G. Perry, who has served the full three terms, or six years, allowed by Democratic precedent. Mr. Boon will begin his term as assessor as trustee and Mr. Bumpus will begin his third term as tax assessor. Any of the other officers, having held the office of tax assessor for several years prior to his election, will be re-elected after he had been out of the office for one term.

These officers express their appreciation to the voters of Madison county for the responsibility entrusted to them and pledge faithful service during the ensuing term. Trustee Boon and Tax Assessor Bumpus have served in their respective offices and approval of their services is evidenced by their reelection. Mr. Mainard has served as deputy sheriff for 12 years and has won confidence of numerous Madison countians.

GIRLS! MAKE A LEMON BLEACH

Lemons Whiten and Double Beauty of the Skin

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White and you have a quarter pint of lemon bleach for face use.

Massage the skin with a brush or sponge into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use lemon juice to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion. Lemon has always been used as a freckle, sunburn and tan remover. Make this up and try it.

Barrett's ROACHSAULT Kills Roaches

Here is the one vermin exterminator that kills roaches, ants, water bugs and other insects out of existence. It gets right into the cracks and crevices along the woodwork—you don't blow it onto the wood. Try Roachsaunt and rid your home of insects over night. Buy it from your druggist in 15, 30 and 60 cent cans.

GET THEM QUICK

For trial free, write Dept. "R. Resinol," Baltimore, Md.

Resinol

Resinol Ointment, with Resinol Soap, is a skin itching remedy. Unless the trouble is due to some serious internal disorder, it quickly and easily heals most cases of eczema, rash or similar tormenting skin or scalp eruptions, even when other treatments have given little relief. Physicians prescribe Resinol extensively. Sold by all druggists.

SHOWS PRESENT CRIME DUE TO FALSE IDEALS

The scriptural injunction, "train a child in the way it should go, and when it is old it will depart therefrom," was the answer given by Rev. William E. Clark, pastor of the Unitarian church, Sunday to the question he had announced as the subject of his sermon, "Why the Increase in Crime Against Young Girls in Our Large Cities."

Parents were held responsible for keeping a closer supervision over their children and companions of their children. An investigation of the records of the local juvenile court, Rev. Clark said, showed that in every case in which a young girl had come to grief, the parents had shown gross neglect of the child's training and ignorance of her companions and the places she frequented.

Rev. Clark advised against young girls leaving their homes in the country and small towns to go to the city to work unless they were placed in the homes of friends who would properly look after their welfare. He also made a plea for the extension of religious influence to reach the 20,000 people under 25 years of age in Tennessee who are not now enrolled in any Sunday school nor other organization where they receive systematic religious instruction.

MRS. WILLIAMS BURIED.

Funeral services for Mrs. Sally Williams, who died at the Baptist hospital Saturday, following an illness of several months, were held Sunday afternoon from the family residence at Linden avenue. Many friends and relatives were present. Burial was in Forest Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Williams had been seriously ill ever since the death of her son, Homer. She was the widow of James M. Williams, prominent grain dealer of the city.
